ECONOMICS 311 Q Revised Syllabus Due to Hurricane Irma
LABOR ECONOMICS (I)

1. Time: 12:30 - 1:45 PM, Tu, Th

2. Place: Stubblefield 502

3. Description of Course:

Economics 311 is both a theory and issues oriented course emphasizing topics in labor economics. The student will learn about the operation of the labor market and how to apply the principles of labor economics to the analysis of various labor market problems. The student will also be provided with the necessary tools for evaluating the role of the federal government in attempting to foster full employment and income security for the population. It is assumed that the student has some basic familiarity with the principles of economics, primarily from Economics 211.

8. Web Site for Review Questions:

http://moya.bus.miami.edu/~probins/

9. Examinations:

There will be three hourly examinations during the semester. All exams will be held in Stubblefield 502 (the assigned classroom for the course). None of the exams will be cumulative.
10. Attendance

Class attendance is required. Roll will be taken each class period. For each unexcused absence, one point will be deducted from the semester's total point score. An absence is excused if the student is ill and I receive a doctor's note or if I receive notification from a university administrator that the student is away on official university business. I will allow two unexcused absences before I begin to deduct points. If a student has no unexcused absences at the end of the semester, 8 points will be added to the student’s total point score. If the student has one unexcused absence at the end of the semester, 4 point will be added to the student’s total point score.

11. Weighting of Examinations:

The three hourly exams will each be weighted 30 percent toward the final grade. There will also be several problem sets to complete. The average score on the problem sets will be worth 10 percent of the final grade. If a problem set is not turned in, it will be assigned a score of zero.
